High Life (2018 film) - Wikipedia

High Life is a 2018 English-language science fiction film written and directed by French director Claire Denis with Robert Pattinson and Juliette Binoche in the lead roles. It is Denis's first film in the English language and was co-written by her long-time collaborator Jean-Pol Fargeau and Geoff Cox. The film focuses on a group of criminals who are tricked into believing they will be freed if they participate in a mission to travel on a spaceship towards a black hole to find an alternate energy.

High Life (2018) - IMDb

Claire Denis's first English language film after 13 feature films in French. She stated the reason she made it in English was that she simply couldn't imagine people speaking French in space, only either English or Russian. HIGH LIFE: Claire Denis Goes Extreme | Film Inquiry The English language debut of iconic French director Claire Denis is thematically dense and transgressive, designed to provoke intense debate. As is common with festival films, many early reviews of High Life may seem inadequate in a few months as more people see it and have time to think about it.

Last Man: On Claire Denis's High Life - Los Angeles ... This is Claire Denis, after all. Slowly and elliptically, High Life, Denis's latest and only English-language film, moves backward in time to provide the thinnest thread of narrative.

The high life of Claire Denis | The Saturday Paper

While Claire Denis seeks to avoid metaphor in her films, the French director's sci-fi prison drama High Life, starring Juliette Binoche and Robert Pattinson, can't help but raise big questions about the universe, the nature of time and even the meaning of life.
